

ABSTRACT

A system for on-site detection at remote locations of various microscopic contaminants in samples without requiring use of growth media or involving extensive testing methodologies.

- 5 Electronic transmission of such digitized high-level resolution photomicrographs to a certified mycologist or other technically trained personnel for rapid analysis is provided.